POSTMASTERS

Power is not just the province of presidents and kings. Everyone has it. Within each of us lies the power to control our own destiny and our own environment.

The Postal Service wants you to use that power to help preserve and protect our national environment. In August, in partnership with the Department of Energy, we are launching a new back to basics energy conservation program called, "You Have the Power." The program is one of our primary strategies in achieving the goal of saving 20 percent of our energy dollars by the year 2000.

The basis of the program is spelled out in its name. Each of us has the power to improve our environment. We have the power to recycle, conserve, and save energy, both on the job and in our homes.

I am asking each of you to join in this campaign and do what you can to encourage employees to participate. Encourage them to turn off lights, repair leaks, and recycle. Conserving energy is within their power and in their hands.

Reducing our energy consumption by just 3 to 5 percent could save the Postal Service $15 million each year in energy costs. And if reducing energy consumption by that little saves that much, just imagine what we could save if all employees got back to basics in energy conservation.

But saving money is only part of it. Just as important, we will be helping to save the environment and leaving a better world to our children.

So join the Postal Service in using your power to save power!

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

In May of last year, Department of Energy Secretary Federico Peña sent a letter to Postmaster General Marvin Runyon outlining a new federal energy conservation program called "You Have the Power," and asking for the Postal Service's support for the campaign. The Postal Service has signed on to be a partner with the Department of Energy and will launch the program nationwide to all employees.

The campaign stresses the importance of using energy wisely and urges all employees to use their power to conserve energy, which translates into dollar savings and a cleaner environment. The Postal Service goal is to reduce energy consumption by 20 percent by the year 2000, and this campaign is one of the major strategies to accomplish this.

August 1997
YOU HAVE THE POWER

Recycling one aluminum can saves enough energy to operate a personal computer for half a day. When you consider that the average American uses 364 aluminum cans every year, you can see how much power you hold in your hands, how much energy you can save just by making the decision to recycle those cans.

The Postal Service wants you to use your power to help preserve and protect our national environment. A new program is being launched in cooperation with the Department of Energy called, "You Have the Power." The program is one of the Postal Service's major strategies to reduce energy by 20 percent by the year 2000.

The premise behind the program is a simple return to the basics of conservation and is spelled out in its title. Each one of us has the power to conserve energy and make our environment better, both on our jobs and in our homes.

It's been a while since we've heard very much about the energy crisis, and perhaps we have gotten a bit complacent about its importance. But saving energy is important, both in terms of cost and in terms of the environment. The Postal Service spends $370 million every year on energy, and if we reduced energy consumption by as little as 3 to 5 percent, it would save $15 million each year. And saving money is only part of the benefits. We would be helping to preserve the environment and leave a better world for our children. Simply by recycling, we can cut pollution by 50 percent, water use by 60 percent, and energy consumption by 70 percent. That's a whole lot of power.

Just by taking these few basic everyday steps to save energy — recycling paper and aluminum cans, turning off office machines, turning out lights, turning off faucets, fixing leaks, limiting car use — you can use your power to save power and make the world a cleaner, safer place to live in.

You have the power!
Postmaster's Name

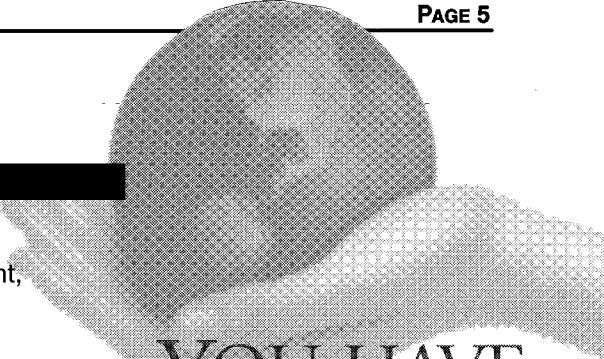

This is a "back to the basics" promotion, reminding people that even though we haven't had an "energy crisis" in several years, we do still need to conserve our natural resources. The program will remind employees to turn off lights, turn off computers and printers, turn off faucets and fix leaks, use mass transit whenever possible, and other simple, everyday things they can do to conserve energy, both at work and at home.

The Postal Service currently spends $370 million on energy costs. By reducing consumption by as little as 3 to 5 percent, we could save more than $15 million a year.

The program will be launched in August throughout the country. Activities to promote it include national distribution of workroom posters; coverage in LINK, Straight Talk, Update, FOCUS and other postal publications; radio public service announcements; and Department of Energy funded print ads.

12 Energy Tips

1. Recycle paper. It cuts pollution by 50 percent, water use by 60 percent, and energy consumption by 70 percent.
2. Recycle aluminum cans. Recycling just one aluminum can saves enough energy to power your PC for half a day, and the average American uses 364 aluminum cans every year. Be an above-average American and recycle every one.
3. Turn equipment off when it's not in use. Example, the Pittsburgh Remote Encoding Center (REC) shut off all computers at 4:30 a.m. until just before start-up, reducing their electricity costs by 40 percent or $3,100 per month.
4. Set facility temperatures during non-operating hours. Reduce heat and air conditioning at night and on Sundays, and keep doors and windows closed.
5. Caulk and weather-strip doors, windows, vents, and other openings.
6. Label switches and shut off unneeded lighting and equipment.
Shutting off one two-lamp fluorescent fixture for 10 hours a day saves $230 in one year.
7. Use light appropriate to your task. It's not necessary to light an entire area to read at your desk.
8. Use compact fluorescent lights instead of incandescent lights where possible. And clean fixtures and replace bulbs as required.
9. Turn off running faucets and fix any leaks. A leaky faucet that fills a coffee cup in 10 minutes wastes a swimming pool of water in a year.
10. Lower hot water tank temperature and add additional insulation to tank and piping.
11. Change/clean filters on a regular basis and keep heating and cooling systems in good repair.
12. Relax. Carpool or take mass transit and use 25 times less energy. Or ride your bike to work and burn carbohydrates, not hydrocarbons.

YOU HAVE

STAND-UP TALK #1

Did you know recycling one aluminum can saves enough energy to operate a computer for half a day? Or that fixing one leaky faucet saves enough water to fill a swimming pool in one year? When you consider that the average American uses 364 aluminum cans every year and probably has a leaky faucet or two, you can see how much power you hold in your hands, how much energy you can save just by making the decision to conserve energy.

The Postal Service wants you to use your power to help preserve and protect our national environment. A new program is being launched in cooperation with the Department of Energy called, "You Have the Power." The program is one of the Postal Service's major strategies to reduce energy by 20 percent by the year 2000.

The Postal Service spends $370 million per year on energy, and if we reduced energy consumption by as little as 3 to 5 percent, it would save $15 million each year. And saving money is only part of the benefits. We would be helping to preserve the environment and to leave a better world to our children.

We're not talking a major change in lifestyle. Most energy conservation measures are simple and easy. They're just a matter of common sense. Here's a short list of some things you can do to help:

- Recycle. By recycling, we can cut pollution by 50 percent, water use by 60 percent, and energy consumption by 70 percent. That's a whole lot of power.
- Turn off office machines, turn out lights, turn off faucets.
- Fix leaky faucets.
- Car pool or use mass transit.
- Keep doors and windows closed when the air conditioning is on.
- Use a desktop light if you don't need the entire room lit up.

I'm sure you have some of your own ideas to add to this list. Remember, you have the power to make a difference!

STAND-UP TALK #2

As part of a plan to reduce energy by 20 percent by the year 2000, the Postal Service is launching a new program in cooperation with the Department of Energy called, "You Have the Power."

The premise behind the program is a simple return to the basics of conservation and is spelled out in its title. Each one of us has the power to conserve energy and make our environment better, both on our jobs and in our homes.

Recycling one aluminum can saves enough power to operate a computer for half a day, so imagine how much energy you can save by recycling all the cans you use.

Here are a few basic things we can all do to reduce energy consumption, help the postal bottom line, which helps preserve jobs, and protect the environment at the same time:

- Recycle. By recycling, we can cut pollution by 50 percent, water use by 60 percent, and energy consumption by 70 percent. That's a whole lot of power.
- Turn off office machines, turn out lights, turn off faucets.
- Fix leaky faucets.
- Car pool or use mass transit.
- Keep doors and windows closed when the air conditioning is on.
- Use a desktop light if you don't need the entire room lit up.
- Use compact fluorescent lamps to save energy and cut pollution.

YOU HAVE the POWER

Most of these things are a matter of common sense. So use your power to help save power and protect the environment.

STAND-UP TALK #3

YOU HAVE the POWER

Most of you can remember the big energy crisis — or at least one of the smaller ones. Well, it's been a while since we've heard very much about a crisis in energy, and perhaps we have gotten a bit complacent about how much energy we use. But saving energy is important, both in terms of the postal bottom line and in terms of the environment.

As part of a plan to reduce energy by 20 percent by the year 2000, the Postal Service is launching new program in cooperation with the Department of Energy called, "You Have the Power."

The premise behind the program is a simple return to the basics of conservation and its name says it all. Each one of us has the power to conserve energy and make our environment better, both on our jobs and in our homes.

Here are a few basic steps we can all take to reduce energy consumption, help the postal bottom line, which helps preserve jobs, and protect the environment at the same time. Most of these things are a matter of common sense. So use your power to help save power on the job and at home:

I'm sure you've got an idea or two that you can add to this list. Remember you have the power to make a difference!

INTERNAL QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q: The Postal Service is launching a new program called "You Have the Power." What does "You Have the Power" mean?

A: It means just what it says. Each of us has the power to effect change in our lives. For example, by just taking a few simple steps like turning off lights and computers and recycling paper and aluminum cans, you can change the environment for the better and save energy costs.

Q: Who is sponsoring this program?

A: The Postal Service is working in partnership with the Department of Energy. The DOE asked us to join with them in this energy-saving program, and they are sharing some of the costs of promoting it, providing posters, advertisements, and public service announcements.

Q: Why is the Postal Service getting involved in this?

A: The USPS is an award-winning, nationally recognized environmental leader with an ongoing concern for preserving the environment. And in addition to being good for the environment, this program is good for the Postal Service bottom line, which means it's good for customers and employees.

Q: Why is this program necessary?

A: It's been a while since we've heard much about the "energy crisis," and we have perhaps gotten a bit complacent about energy consumption. This program reminds us that we have the power to save energy by just taking a few simple conservation steps.

Q: What kinds of things can employees do to help save energy?

A: We're not talking about drastic lifestyle changes. Just a few simple things can help conserve energy — recycling paper and aluminum cans can cut pollution and water and energy use by 50 to 70 percent; turning off running faucets and fixing leaky ones; carpooling or using mass transit; turning off vehicles, computers and printers when they're not in use; turning off lights; closing doors and windows when using air conditioning. It's a matter of common sense and a back to the basics approach to energy conservation.

Q: Why should employees participate in this program?

A: The Postal Service spends $370 million a year on energy costs. If we reduce our energy use by as little as 3 to 5 percent, we can save more than $15 million a year, which can help keep postage rates down and preserve our jobs. And just as important, we can help keep the environment safe and clean for our children and grandchildren.

Multiline Accuracy Support System Extension

The July 31, 1997, Multiline Accuracy Support System (MASS) certification deadline is extended until September 30, 1997. This applies only to MASS-certified product users, including multiline optical character systems (MLOCRs), video encoding systems, and direct view (desktop) encoding system users. Production limitations have delayed the MASS test to manufacturers, delaying, in turn, manufacturer release of software compliant with the 1997–1998 MASS requirements.

Users of MASS-certified systems may continue to use their current MASS-certified software through September 30, 1997. This extension does not change the requirement for the use of current database products as specified in DMM A950.3.1.

Postal Service business mail entry unit personnel are instructed to accept all PS Forms 3553 presented after July 31, 1997, as valid if they show a valid product listed in the 1996–1997 CASS/MASS Certified Products Guide and the “current” database product. After September 30, 1997, all MASS-related product users must be certified and listed in the 1997–1998 CASS/MASS Certified Products Guide to be eligible for automation discounts.

This one-time MASS extension does not change the established cycle period. The 1997–1998 CASS/MASS cycle will end July 31, 1998.

Overseas Military Mail

Mail addressed to, from, or between military post offices overseas is subject to certain conditions or restrictions of mailing regarding content, preparation, and handling. The table below outlines these conditions by APO/FPO ZIP Codes through the use of footnoted mailing restriction codes, which appear on the page following the table.

Acceptance clerks should use this table with the integrated retail terminal (IRT) to determine whether an APO/FPO ZIP Code is active and which conditions of mailing apply. For Express Mail Military Service (EMMS) availability, refer to the local hardcopy EMMS directory.

The complete table appears in the last Postal Bulletin of each month.

George Halas Commemorative Stamp

Copyright USPS 1996

The Postal Service will honor football coach George Halas with the issuance of a 32-cent commemorative stamp, in a pane of 20 (Item 4448), on August 16, 1997, in Chicago, Illinois. The stamp will go on sale statewide in Illinois only on August 18. The stamp may also be purchased by mail order from the Philatelic Fulfillment Service Center.

Designed by Carl Herrman of Laguna Niguel, California, and illustrated by Daniel Moore of Birmingham, Alabama, the stamp features a portrait of George Stanley Halas in a familiar scene associated with his career as a professional football coach. Halas coached the Chicago Bears in the National Football League for approximately 40 years and led them to seven league championships.

The Halas stamp has the same design as the one featured on the sheet of four Legendary Football Coaches stamps to be issued on July 25, 1997. However, of interest to stamp collectors, the stamp on the individual sheet will bear a red bar over the name that appears at the top of the stamp.

Shipment/Stamp Invoice, and Form 17, Stamp Requisition, respectively. SDOs and SDNs must not distribute stamps to post offices before August 13, 1997.

Philatelic Requirement

SDOs and SDNs with authorized philatelic centers will receive an automatic distribution of these stamps in six positions for subsequent distribution to each philatelic window.

Pictorial Cancellations Announcement 97-15

As a community service, the Postal Service offers pictorial cancellations to commemorate local events celebrated in communities throughout the nation. A list of upcoming events for which pictorial cancellations are authorized appears below. If available, the sponsor of the pictorial cancellation appears in italics under the date. Also provided, as space permits, are illustrations of those cancellations that were reproducible and available at press time.

People attending these local events may obtain the cancellation in person at the temporary post office station established there. Those who cannot attend the event, but who wish to obtain the cancellation, may submit a mail order request. Pictorial cancellations are available only for the dates indicated, and requests must be postmarked no later than 30 days following the requested pictorial cancellation date.

All requests must include a stamped envelope or postcard bearing at least the minimum First-Class Mail postage (32 cents per envelope or 20 cents per postcard). Items submitted for cancellation may not include postage issued after the date of the requested cancellation. Such items will be returned unserviced.

Customers wishing to obtain a cancellation should affix stamps to any envelope or postcard of their choice, address the envelope or postcard to themselves or others, insert a card of postcard thickness in envelopes for sturdiness, and tuck in the flap. Place the envelope or postcard in a larger envelope and address it to: PICTORIAL CANCELLATIONS, followed by the NAME OF THE STATION, ADDRESS, CITY, STATE, ZIP + 4 CODE, exactly as listed below (using all capitals and no punctuation, except the hyphen in the ZIP + 4 code).

After applying the pictorial cancellation, the Postal Service returns the envelope or postcard through the mail. Customers who want their serviced item returned under protected cover should include a larger, stamped, self-addressed envelope.
